

Does not a democracy depend on information to make its informed decisions? When there are few sources of information, it can too easily become propaganda, not information. Media consolodiation threatens to do just that. On June 2nd, I urge you to retain the current ownership rules.